I am a typed director. If I made Cinderella, the audience would immediately be looking for a body in the coach. Alfred Hitchcock, 1956 In the opening pages of his seminal book-length study of Alfred Hitchcock, Hitchcocks Films (1965), Robin Wood famously asked, Why Should We Take Hitchcock Seriously? Wood then proceeded to offer a detailed examination of Hitchcocks career to that point, arguing that the Master of Suspense belonged among the ranks of the preeminent directors in Hollywood, and that his films were among the most important in American culture. When Wood was asking that question, he wasnt asking it rhetorically and was arguing for Hitchcocks relevance, which seems strange today because Hitchcock is now a Hollywood icon. No one would even think of asking that same question today, as just about every American is familiar with Hitchcocks work in some way or another. Hitchcock is regarded as perhaps the most famous and influential director in history, so Woods question back in 1965 at least demonstrates the evolution of Hitchcocks reputation and the critical reception of his career. Indeed, as revered as Hitchcock is today, it is telling that he was never awarded an Academy Award during his career (though he was given an honorary Oscar after his retirement.) Vertigo (1958), for example, is now considered one of the landmark films of the classical Hollywood cinema, but it was both a box office and a critical flop upon its release. Other Hitchcock films, such as Psycho (1960) and North by Northwest (1959), performed well at the box office but were not viewed as high art. Indeed, it was not until the rise of Film Studies as an academic discipline - a development that saw Hitchcocks films get co-opted by scholars of the horror and suspense genres, feminist film theorists, and film historians - that Hitchcock's reputation as a significant artist and director crystallized. Thus, not only did Hitchcock's career itself undergo dramatic fluctuations, his reception has been every bit as circuitous in its trajectory. The Master of Suspense: The Life and Legacy of Alfred Hitchcock examines the career of Alfred Hitchcock, as well as his personal life and family background. Though they are often forgotten today, this biography looks at the British films that gave him an international reputation and facilitated his move to Hollywood. In addition to looking at his filmography, this biography also looks at the great deal of myths, uncertainty, and sensationalism surrounding his upbringing, and how Hitchcock's family and cultural background and how it shaped his career. Along with pictures of important people, places, and events, you will learn about the Master of Suspense like never before, in no time at all.

Et les renforts arrivent encore Bon ça sera la dernière revue de troupes de la semaine. Donc on arrive à 300 figurines il en reste donc 420... mais ça va ça avance bien. Je m'amuserais surtout sur les petites pièces. Là c'est du monobloc donc même si la ligne de moulage est visible -donc il faut barber presque tout le tour de la figurine... oui oui.- Comme à chaque début de défi, je suis dans les temps, limite mieux qu'espérer. Mais par expérience je sais que c'est le creux du défi qui m'est fatal donc on verra quand j'aurais tout barbé :) Publié par CdtK à 17:37 4 commentaires: Liens vers cet article Envoyer par e-mail BlogThis! Oui certains diront que ça fait parti du hobby mais c'est vraiment ce que je teste le plus. Et puis là c'est de l'industriel. Mais voilà pour les 6cm c'est fini et je verrais pour les 8cm de front plus tard -je dirais fin août-. Mais à quoi ça correspond? Donc dire des trous c'est bien mais ça renseigne pas beaucoup alors 1200 trous c'est : 594 soldats -de léger à lourd- 231 cavaliers et 24 canons avec 4 artilleurs. Oui monsieur. Bon alors je suis désolé de ne pas avoir plus de soldats à pied. C'est pas super grave, je doute que toutes les plaquettes soient un jour sur la même table. Mais bon quand on voit que pour 30€ -3 plaquettes- j'ai pu faire celle là et autant en 8cm, ça va. Il faut voir ce que cela m'aurait coûté dans le commerce. On y rajoute le prix des aimants -15€ les 1000 fdpin- et j'ai quand même un très bon rapport qualité-prix par rapport à ce que je recherchais. Il le reste à barber les trous pour y glisser l'aimant et ça sera parfait je pourrais retourner à mes figurines.
